REP. COLMER SEEKS NOMINATION

Congressman Wm. M. Colmer today announced his candidacy for reelection. In a personal statement he said:

"TO THE SOVEREIGN VOTERS OF THE SIXTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI:

"The press has previously carried a notice of my intention to seek renomination in the August 28th Primary as your Representative in the American Congress.

"Nevertheless, I wanted to make this formal announcement through the columns of your local paper, in keeping with my long-standing custom and so that I might have this opportunity to send a personal message to each of you.

"First of all, I want to voice my deep appreciation of the gracious expression of approval of my decision to seek renomination to the Congress. The press, too, in its editorial columns has been most kind in its appraisal of my humble efforts as your Representative.

"However, I assure you that I do not offer for renomination out of any desire for self-aggrandizement. Because you have seen fit to keep me as your Representative in the National Congress, I have advanced to positions of seniority and influence that carry with them all the honor and prestige I can ever hope to attain. I entertain no desire for further political advancement, but cherish a very fervent hope that I can continue to contribute something during the next two years toward the preservation of the form of government envisioned by our forefathers in the Constitution of the United States.

"The sovereignty of the several states and the rights of the people to manage their own affairs set out plainly in Article X of the Constitution, are under attack from many quarters. The Supreme Court decision on schools, the attempts to break down traditional segregation in all areas of our society, the efforts to concentrate supreme power in a strong central bureaucratic government are but a few examples of such attacks upon the liberties of all our people as defined in the Bill of Rights by the Founding Fathers.

"The next two years, in my opinion, are crucial. They should go a long way toward determining whether our treasured institutions and liberties are to be destroyed or prevail. In all humility, I believe that, because of my senior position in the House, I can render a service to the people of my District, my beloved Southland, and the Nation as a whole. I, therefore, submit my candidacy for renomination and earnestly ask for your endorsement of my service and efforts in your behalf at the polls on August 28th."

A Leader in Congress
South Mississippi's Colmer is now the dean of the Mississippi Delegation in Congress. He is ranking member of the House Rules Committee, through which all important legislation must funnel before it can be considered on the House floor.

As such, he has been responsible for bringing to the floor of the House such beneficial legislation affecting the farmer, the laborer, the veteran, the businessman, the national defense, and, in fact, all segments of the economy.

He has gained national recognition as one of the leaders of the House. As chairman of the House Southern Group, he has co-sponsored the Southern Manifesto on the Supreme Court's decision on schools, which was subscribed to by 82 Members of the House and 19 Senators. He originated the second manifesto signed by 83 House Members, exposing the evils of the so-called civil rights bill and its threat to the liberties of all people under the guise of protecting minority rights.

In the 78th and 79th Congresses he was named as Chairman of the highly respected Special House Committee on Post-War Economic Policy and Planning, which, as early as 1945, called the turn on Russia's plan to conquer the world through the strategy of cold war.

He is the senior member of the National Forest Reservations Commission, serving with three members of the President's Cabinet, two Senators, and one other House Member.

Other officers named were Garfield Ladner, Mayor of Waveland vice president; H. C. Ezell, Pascagoula commissioner; second vice president; and Chester McPherson, Ocean Springs Alderman, secretary-treasurer.

Two representatives of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad spoke to the group about the proposed discontinuance of trains number one and four. The men were L. W. Newman, district superintendent, and W. G. Whitsett, assistant to the vice president at Louisville.

They explained that the primary reason the company desires to discontinue the trains is an economical one. They said that the small number of passengers that actually use these trains do not justify their continued operation.

Next meeting of the group will be at Pascagoula on Sept. 10.

Mrs. Edmund Fahey and Mrs. J. A. Tognotti spent last week in Meridian where they went to attend the wedding of their niece, Miss Hilah McLean to Mr. James Skewes.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Penrose Jr. and family, New Orleans, arrived last Saturday for a week visit in Waveland with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Schmitt spent last weekend in Memphis attending to business.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the funeral home of Jacob Schmitt and son, with religious services at St. Francis Catholic Church, later moved to St. Roch cemetery.

The three men were arrested on August 2 after their alleged victim, Felician Dubuisson, Pass Christian, filed an affidavit with Sheriff J. J. Witman charging the trio assaulted him and hit him in the back of the head on August 1.

Shooting Follows Fracas

Two Hancock county youth's dispute over the penning of a cow culminated in an altercation that led to both their fathers being hospitalized, and one father being charged with assault and battery with intent.

Frank Carver, 37, hospitalized at a Picayune hospital, is reported in a serious condition with a 20-gauge shotgun wound in the left side and Albert Mars, 45, was treated at a New Orleans hospital for a cut under the left eye from a shooting-cutting fracas in the Gainesville community late Saturday.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said Mars has been charged and released on $5,000 bond while Manuel Canas, an employee of Carver's fishing camp, is being held in Hancock county jail on a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon and disturbing the peace.

Beck, one constable Harlan Dean, rested Canas in front of Mars' home after the altercation and reportedly took a 12-gauge double-barreled shotgun away from him.

According to Sheriff Ladner, Carver's sons had been penning cattle. Mars' son, Roy David Mars, 15, went to the Carver place and told them they had penned one of his father's cows. The cow was released, but the youths got into an argument which resulted in Lawrence Carver, 19, slapping Roy David Mars, the sheriff said.

The Mars youth went home, told his father about the incident, and Mars went to Carver's fishing camp at Nezan Landing. The visit culminated in the injury of both Carver and Mars.

Sheriff Ladner said the investigation is continuing to determine which occurred first: the shooting or the cutting.

Sheriff Ladner, Constable Dean and Deputy Sam Peterson are investigating the case.

Belvedere Comedy Slated For Lights Last Week Of Aug.

Rehearsals are proceeding fast and furiously at the Bay-Waveland Little Theatre for the third production of the season. The current offering is "Belvedere," a three act comedy by Gwen Davenport, a play with a universal appeal since situations which arise in every household are concerned with children and exasperated parents.

The switch in this entertaining drama, however, centers around the baby-sitter, that incredible genus, Belvedere. John Hubbard is directing the large cast. His wide experience with the drama, from all angles, which include writing, directing and acting, promises a finished production.

The cast includes Rex Rection, Jane Wiggins, Michael Larue, R. F. Key, Stechmann, Harold Keefe, Ezelda Ling, Paul White, Charles Robertson, Jack Hubbard and Katie Ripple.

Mr. Rection, who plays the part of Harry King, and Charles Robertson as Bill Philby, are newcomers to the roster but they are both excellent performers, whose training elsewhere is shown in the ease and humor of their characterizations.

Belvedere is scheduled for production the last weekend in August. The board of the Little Theatre has extended a cordial invitation to all summer visitors, and to non-members, to avail themselves of this opportunity to forget the heat in gales of laughter. Tickets will be on sale at the theatre.

Elvis The Pelvis Irks Bay Folks

Elvis the Pelvis can keep on rolling as far as one Bay St. Louisian—and about forty observers—are concerned. Seems Presley in one of his carefree moments sauntered into the Wheel Inn Cafe on Hwy. 90, accompanied by three male companions.

Properly impressed, one of the customers called out a jolly "Welcome to Bay St. Louis, Elvis."

But nobody heard Elvis say anything. The Rajah of Rock seated himself at a table with his companions; but alas, the service wasn't quick enough for him, and before anyone could say, "I want you, I need you," Elvis up and left.

A waitress was at that moment rushing to his table and she said quickly, "I can take your order now, sir." But with a brusque refusal, Elvis stalked on out.

All of this left the waitress slightly frustrated. And it left the other customers in a state of bewilderment. And it left the city fathers in a state of confusion.
